“The king is dead, long live the king”

Sparinvest Value Equities, stock picking strategies with a factor bias

NIMF, October 2017

Since "The Forgotton King of Factors" at NIMF in 2016

And in 2017, still a pulse - new rebound?

NIMF, 2017

Watch out for interest rates

- Shorter duration value stocks are less sensitive to rising interest rates
- Return of inflation and rising rates are catalysts for a value rebound...

Source: Bloomberg data, MSCI

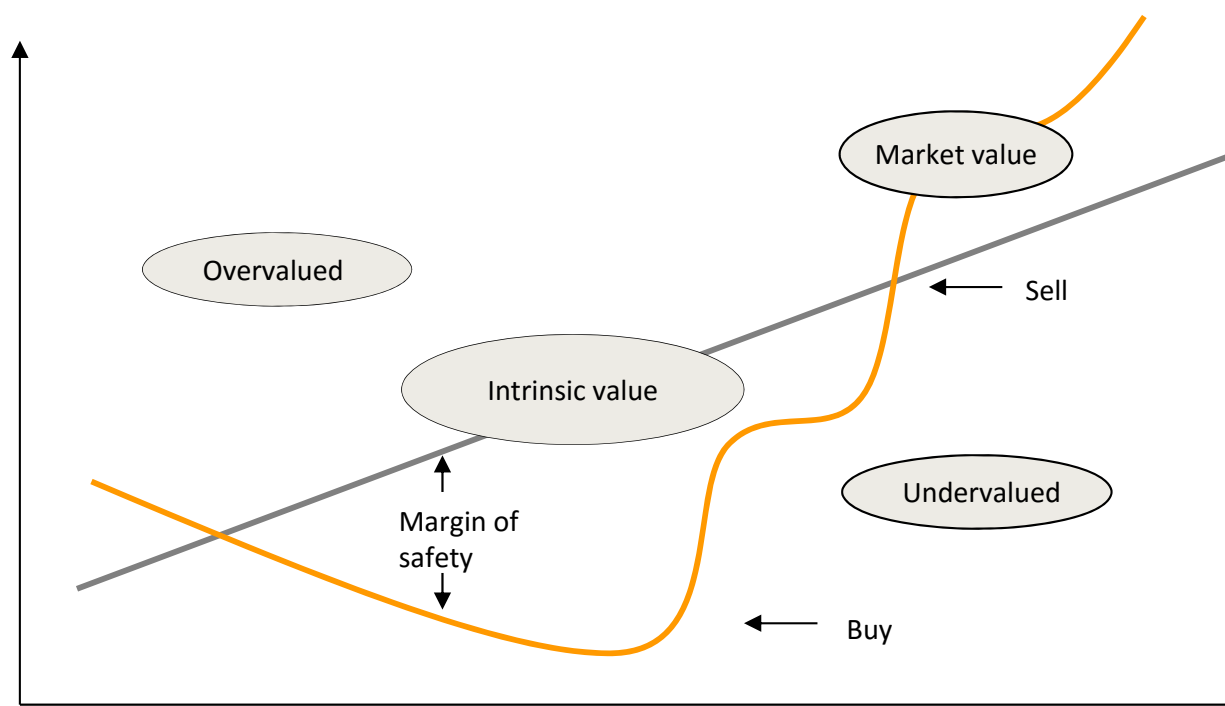

Value is about more than low valuation and factors

- Academic value \neq Graham value
- Link between price and quality
- We end up with a value bias

Stock picking matters

- Value bias is a good starting point but stock picking matters

It requires a disciplined process

Experienced team with high degree of continuity
